

AGRICULTURE WANTS TO RUN OWN AFFAIRS

Government Should Give
Farm Industry Power
Parley Told

By JOHN LEBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer
MONTREAL, April 1.—Delegates from the federal government and the Canadian agriculture power to run its own business were before the delegates from five provinces gathered at the last session of their four-day assembly.

Two leaders of government and agriculture in the west—Premier John Bracken of Manitoba and J. H. Weason of Regina, president of the Canadian Chamber of Agriculture—united in telling the conference that Canada's farm industry wanted to conduct its own affairs.

WORK OUT POLICY

"Agriculture must work out a policy for itself and present it to the National government, which should give the industry power to put it into effect," Premier Bracken declared. The industry should have such support by the Dominion government "as will give it a chance to solve its own problems."

"We should ask parliament to give us a chance to control our own business," Mr. Weason agreed. "The producers have the right to determine the basis of our business."

TENURED AFFRONT

The bumper president also lined himself up with Premier Bracken in criticism of the federal government's proposed tenured-bumper price for wheat this year. Mr. Weason termed it "an affront to every producer of wheat in western Canada."

The new price meant a net of 37 cents a bushel to the producer, the western agriculturalists said. "I don't believe that on any basis a farmer can produce wheat at 37 cents on his farm," he added.

OTTAWA VOTES FUNDS TO BUILD TOURIST ROADS

OTTAWA, April 1.—A vote of $3,750,000 is provided in supplementary estimates tabled in the commons today for development of tourist highways this year.

This money is turned over to the provinces on a per capita basis and the provinces provide an equal amount to the total of $7,500,000 for highway construction for tourist purposes.

Last year the Dominion provided $1,750,000 and it proved so popular it has been increased by $2,000,000. The provinces have yet to indicate where the money will be spent. Another vote will be passed today for completion of the Big Bend highway, Rocky Mountain link of the Trans-Canada highway. The road connecting Banff and Jasper national parks will be completed this year and a vote of $350,000 is provided for the purpose.

By-Election Won By Conservative In Aberdeenshire

ABERDEEN, Scotland, April 1.—The government in Friday won the Kincardine and Western Aberdeenshire by-election. The Conservative candidate was returned by a reduced majority.

The victory, Colin Thomson-Kennedy, polled 11,111 votes against 9,000 for A. Irvine, Liberal.

The government's majority was reduced from 2,538 to 1,121. There are six other by-elections pending.

Cardinal Sbarretti Dies In Vatican

VATICAN CITY, April 1.—Donato Cardinal Sbarretti, 82, apostolic delegate to Canada from 1928 to 1930, died today.

The cardinal died in his sleep and was found dead by a servant who went to awaken him. Physicians said he died of heart disease.

His Eminence was born in Italy in 1856.

Cattle Moving

FORT ERIE, Ont., April 1.—Railway officials said today that approximately 25,000 head of Ontario cattle were expected to move into the United States under the new quota for the second quarter of 1939 which is 50 per cent higher than the previous quota. Eighty per cent of the total was expected to cross by bridge here.

Fatal Brain Infection Affecting Eye-Ball May Be Cured By Operation

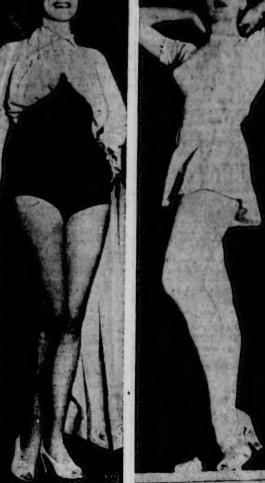

WINNIPEG, April 1.—The "pop-eye" disease which causes blindness and, in many cases, a fatal brain infection, can be cured by a brilliant skull operation.

Dr. Howard C. Naffziger of San Francisco, discoverer of the successful operating method, describing it to the convention of the American College of Surgeons of which he is president.

The disease causes eye to be bulging and further infection of the sockets until blindness results. Pressure on the eye makes it worse, causes the bulging eye to protrude. The operation involves making a

Cops Called To Unsnarl Pretty Leg Show In N. Y.

NEW YORK, April 1.—A contest held in the show window of a shoe company on Times Square to determine "the most beautiful leg" in the city had some unexpected results today.

It was necessary to dispatch three police cars to the scene to quiet an over-enthusiastic crowd of 2,000 persons, and to unsnarl the traffic.

Gerard Gellay, who said he was the shoe company's general manager, was given a summons for disorderly conduct.

Everything had gone along smoothly until a girl, who forced her beaming smile, stepped forth in a blue drupe. At this, the crowd surged forward, knocking down a temporary wooden fence, and policeman John McKinnon stepped into the window to stop the show.

The contest had to be removed to the basement, away from the supposedly lured eyes of Broadway.

NEW ZEALAND HELD A HEAVENLY LAND

VANCOUVER, April 1.—"New Zealand is getting as close to the Kingdom of Heaven on earth as any country can get," said Dr. Alfred G. Hall, international director-general of the World Fellowship of Faiths and Justice, speaking before the Lions Club here, describing the Socialist government of New Zealand.

The outlook of the people in business, education, religion, government and social life is positive," said Dr. Hall. "They have a tremendous faith in tomorrow, with a long range view. Also they have an immense loyalty to the British Empire, more so than any other people do," said Dr. Hall. "They have social security, for every man receives a minimum wage of $16 weekly, and if he can not get a job works for the government at the same wage, but he has to work. There is no unemployment and no public relief. For those who are incapable there is a kindly system."

101 Years Old

TORONTO, April 1.—Mrs. Annie Whitaker, 101 years old today, arose as usual at 6 o'clock and said: "I'm not as good as I used to be, but I'm here." Mrs. Whitaker was born in the second quarter of 1838 and came to Toronto as a young woman. A sister, Mrs. McCombie, died last year at the age of 103.

TOWERS WARNS OF EXPANSION OF CURRENCY

Memorandum is Submitted To Parliamentary Committee On Banking

OTTAWA, April 1.—A warning against too wide an expansion of the amount of Canadian currency was given by Graham Towers, Governor of the Bank of Canada, in a memorandum submitted to the parliamentary committee on banking and commerce Friday.

"In my opinion, the amount of monetary expansion which has taken place in Canada to date, viewed in relation to actual conditions, does not seem sufficient to offer all the incentive to a high level of economic activity and prosperity which monetary policy can be expected to offer in a country where non-monetary factors are so important," he stated.

POLICY IN LINE

The large increase in the amount of money that has taken place without causing inflation does not mean that expansion could be continued indefinitely without serious inflation. In practice, Canadian monetary policy has been about in line with the policy of other countries," he said.

Replying to a suggestion of W. A. Tucker, Lib., Rochester, that the Central Bank should advance Bank of Canada notes to the government free of charge and that the government should use this money to repay maturing debt obligations or perhaps to finance current expenditures.

Gerard Gellay, who said he was the shoe company's general manager, was given a summons for disorderly conduct.

FLEET STREET IS ROCKED BY BOMB BLAST

LONDON, April 1.—A bomb exploded in Fleet Street early today while presses along the famed newspaper row were turning out editions telling of convictions of seven members of the outlawed Irish Republican army on explosives charges.

The blast shattered the front of the News Chronicle (Liberal) advertising office and shook neighboring newspaper offices. No one was injured.

Police threw a guard around the News Chronicle editorial office in a nearby street. A hurried search there failed to disclose any additional explosives.

Seven of the nine persons recently arrested in connection with bombings in various British cities were convicted in the Old Bailey court last night of possessing explosives illegally. Two were acquitted. Sentence will be passed Monday.

Bartlett Makes Conditions Tough To Enjoy Life

LONDON, April 1.—Major Vernon Bartlett, independent member of Parliament, expressed belief in a speech last night Prime Minister Chamberlain's new foreign policy would "save the world from the shadow of another world war."

However, he added: "We shall not be able to enjoy ourselves until Franco withdraws from Spain on his death-bed. Hitler has been assassinated at Mussolini's funeral."

Court Injunction Considered
In Connection With Funds

BROOKS, Alta., April 1.—Water users of the Eastern Irrigation District in annual meeting yesterday by resolution instructed their trustees, if they deem necessary, to seek a court injunction restraining anyone not duly elected from teaching E. I. D. funds.

The trustees are Carl J. Anderson, Henry Dahl and Robert Scott, who were succeeded a week ago by appointment of George Robertson, assistant manager of the E. I. D. administrator, Mr. Robertson's appointment was made by the government.

E. L. Gray, provincial Liberal leader, whose resignation as manager of the E. I. D. became effective Friday, denied there was anything wrong with the operation of the E. I. D. His manager's report was unanimously adopted as well as resolutions of the trustees and auditors.

Hon. Nelson E. Low, provincial treasurer, explained action taken by the government. The government has not laid a charge against any one, but it intends to continue the investigation, he said.

It is not the intention of the government to interfere with the management of the E. I. D. in any way, but the three trustees are suspended and the official trustee, Mr. Robertson, assistant E. I. D. manager, is in charge for the time being until Mr. Low.

75-Year Old Man Seeks Whereabouts Of Daughter Missing For 37 Years

MANITOBA, April 1.—A 75-year-old Manitoba man, with a picture of a missing-face little girl of three as his only clue, spread an appeal here today for information regarding the whereabouts of the daughter he has not seen for 37 years.

Miss Scribner of Sandy Lake, Man., said the daughter was adopted of whom she was a baby because her family was unable to support her. The name of the father that acquired her was never known, but it believed they lived at Newdale, Man.

Last July the postmaster at Newdale received a letter from a young married woman asking information about the parents of a baby adopted there 34 years ago. The postmaster, however, knew nothing of the adoption and, after inquiring, failed to reveal the desired information, he bore the letter up.

Scribner learned of the letter, but the postmaster could not remember the postmark. The family are now trying to locate their long-lost daughter through friends here, believing she is a living someone in British Columbia.

Bill To Increase Ontario Gasoline Price Gets Assent

TORONTO, April 1.—A bill increasing the gasoline tax is eight cents effective at midnight, went through four stages in the Ontario legislature last night and a few minutes later Lieutenant-Governor Albert Matthews gave royal assent.

The two-cent increase is estimated by the government to bring $5,000,000 revenue and thus increase gasoline tax collections to $20,000,000 in the fiscal year beginning today.

The FORD V-8

IT IS one thing to write the word "economy" into an advertisement. It is another matter to build true economy into a car . . . without sacrificing power and performance, size and roominess, quiet comfort and luxury.

The inherent economy of the 1939 Ford V-8 starts with the modest price tag, and "carries through" with every revolution of the powerful V-type 8-cylinder engine. (In fact, owners from every province report 22 to 27 miles per gallon of gasoline!)

And of course, the expert service which Ford dealers render at low cost is another Ford economy "angle". We suggest that you arrange with your nearest Ford dealer for a thorough demonstration of the 1939 Ford V-8. We believe you'll agree it's "The Quality Car in The Low Price Field". Fifty Years of Usefulness

Edmonton's Chamber of Commerce has been celebrating its fiftieth anniversary. It has good cause to celebrate. Its record of achievement is long and creditable. No other board of trade in Canada has played a more useful part in shaping the development of its community, or has more to show for the effort.

It is a far cry from the frontier trading post of 1888 to the city of today. The changes that have come about have in large measure been due to the activity of the businessmen who all through this half century of progress have maintained an organization by which they were able to pool their opinions, interests and influence for the general benefit. It is more than possible that without this driving force there would not be an Edmonton today comparable in population and importance to the city we know and have cause to be proud of.

Cities do not just happen. They are man-made affairs, and their rise and development have been in proportion as resolute and enterprising men can see opportunities and turn these to account. The Chamber of Commerce may well say to those who would know what it has done and why it celebrates: "Look about you."

Plain Words to the Aggressors

Premier Daldor on Wednesday told Mussolini that the boundary of French territory and French rights is the line between peace and war. Prime Minister Chamberlain yesterday told Hitler that for him the deadline is the boundary of Poland. And added he was authorized to say France would also fight if Poland were attacked. The Polish government had been given assurances to this effect. In these two directions at least the "bluff" of the dictators has been called; and the issue rests with them. Invasion of French territory or of Poland means war.

Mr. Chamberlain's assurance that he would fight to the last is obviously in the making. Hitler has been massing troops on the Polish border in preparation for pinching off the Polish corridor. The Polish foreign minister is due to visit London next week to continue negotiations toward the French aggression. Nothing was more likely than that Hitler would strike before these negotiations are complete.

The Fuehrer is told in plain terms that to do this will bring Britain, France, and presumably Russia into the field. He has been holding out for military guarantees. These given, the "stop Hitler" bloc should materialize.

"Pegging" the Tax

When he fills up the tank in future the Ontario motorist will have to pay the provincial government eight cents per gallon, instead of the six cents he has hitherto been taxed for the privilege. But he will not object, for he is not paying anything. Any tax he pays will go to the improvement of the roads. Motorists do not protest against taxation when the money is spent to create good roads for them to travel on, even when the taxation is at a high rate, as a tax of eight cents per gallon certainly is.

Premier Hepburn is not, only in spending gas-tax money for road improvement, but in telling the car-owner that is what the tax is for and giving him assurance it will be for that purpose only. Any tax is paid more willingly when the payer knows exactly to what his money will be put. There is no possibility of arousing taxpayer enthusiasm for dumping money into "general revenue," or of quelling the tax "rebellion" to hand over for an unspecified purpose.

Even where the amount paid out of general revenue for road making is more than the amount gathered into it by a gasoline tax, the motorist does not feel any thrill of satisfaction in being told that his money will be put to that purpose. The tax that is "pegged" for some certain and clearly understood purpose is one that is paid with least protest, or none, even when it is a heavy tax. Mr. Hepburn is aiming at the taxpayer's "pay-chology" as well as at his pocket.

A New Settlement Plan

The homestead system used to be described as a scheme under which the Government bet the entrant he could not live on a quarter section of wild land for three years and make certain improvements. If the entrant won he got the land. In a percentage of cases it transpired by the time he got the land that the homesteader did not want to farm, or didn't want to farm that particular piece of land; so he moved away, leaving an abandoned farm, which after a period of years reverted to the municipality for non-payment of taxes. It was also something more than a guess that a good many homesteads were taken up by persons who never intended to live on them permanently, but hoped to sell out when patent was obtained and pocket the price as wages for three years' work. There was nothing criminal in either procedure, but the two processes resulted in a large number of partially improved and unoccupied farms.

The new lands bill with which the legislature has been wrestling will displace the homestead system by a plan under which an applicant may lease wild land for 20 years, with an option to buy it after the first ten. The consideration for which the lease is granted will be a share of the crop, out of which the municipality will collect its taxes.

The idea, evidently, is to discourage people from taking up wild land unless they positively want to establish permanent farm homes, since ownership could only be obtained after ten years' occupancy. By the end of the ten years' occupancy, the lessee is expected to have brought the farm into a good state of production, made improvements, come to regard it as home, and so wish to secure title to the property and continue to live on it.

The plan should make for permanency of settlement of wild land. It would not be worth any one's while to lease a quarter unless he intended to stay on it and eventually own it.

Vancouver is to get a $390,000 loan for school-building purposes, described in the despatches as a "joint" loan by the Dominion and Provincial Governments. Which probably means the province approved the city's application for a 2 per cent loan for the self-liquidating improvements scheme. If so, Edmonton's public school board will have precedent for requesting a similar loan.

The Saskatchewan motorist will get a driver's license printed on white paper. If he is convicted of breaking the law he will have to hand it back and get a blue one. For a second conviction he will have to hand back the blue slip and get a red one. The motorist is to be kept in the red, and told get instructions to walk.

Evil Measure

In less than one minute last Thursday the House of Representatives at Washington adopted a bill making subject to reprobation any alien who advocates the making of any changes in the American form of government. But it that bill were enacted into law, it is a measure that would result could not be eliminated in one minute, or in one year and, perhaps, not in one generation.

What the House intended to do is plain, but what it actually did is something quite different. It intended to add the mouths of certain annoying fellows with few brains and less influence who have abused the hospitality of this country by denouncing everything in it, good and bad. But what it actually did was to put a weapon in the hands of American-born fools who resent honest and well-founded criticism by able men.

It is a law of this sort that has been in force since the foundation of the republic, one of the first men thrown out under its provisions undoubtedly had been a Frenchman, named Alexis Charles Henri Clerie de Toqueville, whose book, "Democracy in America," is full of suggestions for alterations in our system. Another who would have gone out the same way was James Vincent Bryce, whose "American Commonwealth" not only suggested alterations but had a powerful influence in getting some of them into the improvement of our system. Among living men who might be deprived by the intellectually unimpaired, were such bills passed, are Andre Siegfried, Harold Laski and Beverly Nichols, all of whom have advocated alterations in our system. These are the kind of distinguished men whose criticisms are of real value.

To say that the law would never be invoked against people of this kind is to deny all experience. These are the kind of men who are against whom it would be invoked, for it is the penetrating and well-founded criticism that arouses the wrath of the majority. Nobody pays much attention to the mouthings of a soap-box orator with a dirty neck; but when an intelligent man makes such statements, the majority, as well as unfavorable, it hurts, and the rage of the thoughtless is correspondingly violent.—Baltimore Sun.

Stop All Bouncing!

From The Budget, issued by the Alberta Wheat Pool.

The tariff structure in Canada was erected on the grounds that the Dominion required industries in order to give the nation a balanced economic life.

"It was argued that a substantial industrial life could never be established in Canada if products from the great industries of Great Britain and the United States were permitted to enter this country duty-free.

Canadian manufacturers were thus given a protected market in Canada and were able to charge higher prices for their products than the world price. In other words, they were bouned by the tariff. This condition, of course, still persists.

"Of course, the larger the manufacturing organization the greater the benefit it derives from the tariff bonus. A huge concern in Montreal or Toronto is thus benefited to a far greater extent than a small manufacturer in any city, or Stratford, or Owen Sound.

"One never hears of this situation being presented to the Canadian people, but great reason is being laid by the financial newspapers of the country on the statement that large farmers in Western Canada benefit unduly from the minimum wheat price as compared with the benefits obtained by small farmers. The same state of conditions prevails, however, as in the industrial life of Canada.

"All bonuses, whether they be direct or indirect, are wrong in the belief of the farmers of the Canadian Empire, and they are right in saying to call off the whole bouning idea in all branches of Canada's national life and let everybody compete on a wide open market. It is going to be by bouning that the farmer, the western farmer desires consideration."

Who Speaks for Quebec?

Canadians everywhere may well ask themselves what is the voice of Quebec in Canada, in this crisis of war or peace which is inevitably the test of the time of free human institutions in the world.

They will be reluctant to think, the people of English-speaking Canada, that the voice of Quebec is uttered in what has been to the King of recent French-Canadian society in Quebec, and to speak in the name of Quebec in this vast issue which comes home to the very life of all the common people of all the world.

These societies say that they speak for Quebec, and they repudiate Mr. King and Mr. Manion alike. They are in "absolute opposition to Canadian participation in the war." They say that the national leaders in parliament can speak for Canada in "expressions of solidarity with the British Empire." They say that Mr. King and Mr. Manion are taking ground dangerous to our national unity, "contrary to Canadian interests and to the feelings of the people."

It is almost incredible that the ancient intransigence of nationalist Quebec should thus emerge, learning nothing and forgetting nothing, in this grave and anxious time of the world. And there is no question what this thing is, essentially, in itself. It is utterly perverse and irreconcilable with any sense of Canadian nationhood. The valid question that is whether it is, actually, the mind and heart of French Canada.

For what had Mr. King said and what had Mr. Manion said, speaking upon their solemn responsibility to the nation, that they were of English-speaking Canada? Mr. King had said, at the most, an extremely guarded statement that he was not a nationalist. Then a change of plan was announced. The construction was stopped when the war broke out and not resumed until 1917, when Churchill was again selected as the terminus.

New York: Sir Hubert Willson announced that he is considering a voyage across the North pole by submarine.

Nogales, Texas: Fighting along the border is imminent as 3,000 federal troops are closing in on Naco, held by 1,500 Mexican federal troops. The Passing Show

By J. K. COWEN

Which make the best cooks—men or women? It is an old argument, and any line anyone wants to ruffle the domestic atmosphere. Male chefs, of course, are exempted from the scope of the argument. That's their business. To decide the question, a Grand American Cooking Contest for Men and Women was held at the Hotel New York last week and the women won easily—three places out of four. A number of elimination contests had preceded the final, and the five best men cooks and the five best women cooks. The ten were then turned loose in the spacious kitchen of the swank restaurant and told to do their damndest.

Mrs. Pinckney Gies Glantzberg, an attorney who lives on Riverside Drive, took time off from her writing of editorial and social correspondence to turn out a succulent Southern breakfast that took first prize in the eyes of the judges—four famous male chefs and one woman. Her menu was a variety of good food and wines, Mr. G. Selmer Prouger. It consisted of creamed hominy and fried chicken, broiled ham, a variety of vegetables, scrambled eggs and hot biscuits topped with cherry preserves.

If Mrs. Glantzberg had a boarding house instead of a law office, I'd certainly put my name down on the waiting list.

Another Southern dish, kidneys with sausage, was second prize. Thora Salter, of the hotel, William J. Hill, of the hotel, newspaper cartoonist, and the only man to make the menu, came third with a Pennsylvania Dutch breakfast, while fourth prize was awarded to Mr. Harold Lampert, artist.

"HE-AN PIE and writer, for her tempting handling of the kidneys, was awarded first prize. Another dish, Irish bacon and eggs a la Baruch, Gelsit Burgess, the author, whose steaming platter of "He-AN PIE" was a Burgess' failed to tempt the nostrils of the judges. He said it was a "some woman cigar-smoker" had dropped ashes in his pie. The excuse was disallowed.

Signifying itself in that the "regular" housewives entered the competition. They were probably too busy serving mud, toast and coffee at the breakfast table with their Southern breakfast. The writers held an unenviable advantage. Being unable to engage cooks—or retain them if engaged—writing folk have to become proficient with sausage and salad, or a bit of despatch.

My good friend William Blaisdell Cameron, survivor of Frog Lake massacre and author of "On the Trail with Big Bear," in a letter telling of his writing and other activities, laments the passing of many old friends in the last year. Among them was the late Walter, author of "The Virginian."

MEMORIAL FOR the out-of-doors. A splendid memorial has just been set up in the mountains in the Grand Teton of Wyoming, at whose foot he rests, has been named for him by the United States Board of Geographic Names. Mount Water, with its tooth-like summit, 11,480 feet above sea level, was a virgin peak till 1923. It is its old, far-traded name, and it is the Indians. Perhaps there some of Water's cowboys first sang:

"I'm wild and woolly and full of fleas,
I'm back on the trail with my gun and my gun,
I'm a she-wolf from Bitter Creek,
And it's my night to howl."

Water and his Virginian will long be remembered. He had caught the spirit of the west when it was a place where no one had a stranger who he had left home, and courage was the only passport. The phrases he put into the mouth of a character, "When I was a boy, I was a cowboy," has passed into the speech of this generation.

The Alberta Legislature may not win the federal government to its way of thinking, but its resolution calling for pensions of a dollar a day to needy persons over 60 years of age, is called for by the facts of life in Canada today.

Men in prison for crime are not the only GAS CHAMBERS men who toil with his back and hands. Many of the men in the workhouse are the result of the competition of younger men.

With modern applications of power, and 24-hour shifts, the hands of the men in the workhouse are shortened and the working life ended at fifty. Men who have toiled should not be allowed to sink into penury. If the public conscience won't provide ethical chamber for aged men as it does for homeless dogs, then it should ensure them a sufficient living allowance.

RAIDING THE REFRIGERATOR
Somewhere, cannot be the source of funniness when I go to the refrigerator for a snack, after the family has retired. It was forbidden to me as a small boy to take food from the refrigerator, and I have never been able to learn since, I cannot fully realize that Milsady has provided food for my midnight raids on her stores.

Equally timid am I about my spiritual privileges. It is not easy and natural to accept as my own, of right, the simple provisions which my Father has made for my peace and joy and power, I am reluctant to utilize what has freely been made for me.

Why should I ever worry, or be afraid or suffer doubt or lack spiritual refreshment? "All things come of age," God's provision is ample and ever-ready.

Lerk, make us more at home in our Father's house and in the world of rights and privileges; make us not strangers or servants, but sons.

Read Galatians 4:1-7.

The Canadian people in this crisis. What these Quebecers have said in answer was never in all our history the sentiment of the Canadian people. It is false to the national sentiment of Canada today.

It will not need more than the authority of these Quebecers to persuade the rest of Canada that they speak truly in the name of Quebec.—Vancouver Province.

"Exactly what is my future with the firm, Mr. Roebury?"

Writers are asked to restrict their comments to the subject under discussion. They are asked to give their opinion on outstanding issues of the day. We want to know your views. Editors.

Editor, Bulletin: Lamenting to the foreboding of the present from the People's Weekly last night I was prepared for a few moments of constructive advice. However, due to the line of criticism of others I may be dumb and not constructive either if I say. I did not note that due to lack of funds the People's Weekly did not broadcast for two weeks and it struck me kind of strange at first that such a paper as the People's Weekly should be in such a straits. But that was a surprise after what I had heard that such a paper existed at all.

It is quite easy to sit back and criticize others. It seems to be one of our weaknesses so we must not judge too harshly. I would suggest that the People's Weekly forget about the money and make a good thing out of it. Any constructive ideas at all would be very much to have them.

Our present Provincial Government are doing all they can to fulfill their promises. Even if they never fill their promises they have been the best of a bad bunch. By trying to overcome obstacles placed in our way by Mr. Albert Edwards, I am sure that we will be up and against and what must be overcome. Alberta is not alone in seeking wisdom from the rest of the world. It is quite a common sense intelligent enough to learn from the mistakes of others.

For "Shameless" as a Canadian about those boys. But history is sure to put a different color on the picture. These men only offered themselves in the struggle for Democracy. The so-called democratic governments sold out what little Democracy was lying around and got nothing for it at all.

The British Empire was lying around, second class power, and Britain should be deprived of their Canadian citizenship and rights, etc. I would suggest that the People's Weekly forget about the money and make a good thing out of it. Any constructive ideas at all would be very much to have them.

On Romance Road

Steady Manhattan companion of Jack Chrysler, son of Walter P. Chrysler, automobile magnate, is striking Emma O'Brien, above, New York socialite. About-towners hint the couple may be speeding toward a wedding.

He's Happy Again

Royal Mother—Babe

Canadian Fliers In Britain

This picture shows a group of Canadians now in training in the Royal Air Force, stationed at Sealand, near Chester, England. In the group, left to right, are K. C. Forsythe, Winnipeg; K. M. Laird, Montreal, son of Gordon Laird, district superintendent of the Canadian Bank of Commerce; A. Graham Egerton, Montreal, son of Dr. Arthur Egerton, well-known musician; G. Stewart, London, Ont.; J. Shepherd and H. Burns, whose addresses are not known; Michael E. Pollard, son of A. Pollard, of the Sun Life Assurance Co., of Montreal; H. A. G. Smith, Kingston, Ont.; A. Eby, Winnipeg; and R. D. Grassick, London, Ont. This picture was sent by Flying Officer Pollard to his mother.

Russia Has Fastest Warship

Built in Italy, sworn foe of Communism, the warship Tashkent entering port at Livorno, has been sold to Soviet Russia. After six days of trial runs observers called it the fastest warship for its size in the world, reporting it had attained a speed of more than 40 miles per hour.

Courting?

Gossip links the name of Robert Sweeney, above, an American who was 1927 British amateur golf champion, with Countess Barbara Hutton Maugwile-Seventon, fabulously wealthy Woolworth heiress. Sweeney, who is 27, was a constant escort during "Babe's" recent Egyptian sojourn.

Latest—"Dove Dance"

We've had fan dances, bubble dances and innumerable other dances of recent years, but Rodia Royce has come up with a new one for visitors to the New York World's Fair. Instead of the innominate tantalizers featured by her predecessors in the novelty dance field, Miss Royce uses live doves, which she has trained herself to fly to strategic points as she moves through her terpsichorean routine. The doves maintain a cooling accompaniment meanwhile. Next!

Tummy Woe

Here's an object lesson for mothers who want to teach youngsters what not to swallow. All these pins, buttons, and whatnot came from the tummy of 18-month-old Jeanne Worth in a Chicago operation. Jeanne is wondering why she thought this diet so tasty.

Welcome

Although Germans loving Czechia heard many a "Psal" there were some who greeted them with hail, barkslapping and scowls. Above a German motorcycle trouper is welcomed by Prague pro-Nazi.

Soviet Mistress of the Air

MOSCOW, Russia, April 1.—With one of the world's greatest air armadas, Soviet Russia has picked a woman as chief of the international airlines department. She is blonde, 28-year-old Valentina Stepanova Grizodubova, married, and the mother of a son. No novice, Valentina has had 10 years' experience in the air, has established five international women's flying records. Twice she has been decorated by the Soviet government for her accomplishments.

No newcomer in thrills, either. Once, leading an all-female crew in a 3,717-mile non-stop flight attempt from Moscow across the Siberian steppes to the Okhotsk Sea, her plane was forced down in a marshy forest.

The women were marooned for several days in the dark woodlands, inhabited by hungry bears, treacherous lynxes, and other wild animals.

Valentina got her early training in a home-made plane, one of the first airplanes in Soviet Russia. Her father, S. V. Grizodubov of Kharkov, Ukraine, built the craft after seeing a motion picture of the Wright brothers' ship.

Although flying is her main interest, Valentina has also found time to mix in politics. For two years she has been a member of the Supreme Soviet, her nation's governing body.

Valentina Grizodubova—she heads Soviet international airlines.

As Hitler Hailed Prague Rioters

Nazi students injured in the riots that preceded German occupation of Prague, some of them with heads still bandaged, are inspected and praised by Adolf Hitler during his personal tour of captured

Czechoslovakia. One of the "heroes" is patted by the fuhrer as he thanks them for their part in Germany's "bloodless victory."

The President's Gadget Shop

knick-knacks. Statuettes, ash trays, writing tools, timepieces, cigarette butts, water pitcher—just a few items collected along the way.

Young Ruler

With death of the 75-year-old Gaskwar of Baroda, Grandson Shrimant Maharajkumar Singh Gaskwar, above, becomes ruler of one of richest states in India.

Cheetah—Not Cheeter

Those spots before your eyes have nothing to do with your stomach, nor is this a dog. The animal is a cheetah, said to be the world's fastest thing on four legs, and he is the pet of Mrs. Hoppe Kintore, well-known English painter. Mrs. Kintore was photographed as above as she took her spotted pet on a shopping tour in London.

With The Railroaders

At the Macdonald hotel, members of the Railway Club took to the airways by auto-frequency at a banquet meeting 6:30 p.m. on Thursday, March 30.

With the advantage of his 25 years' joyful experience, A. N. Westergaard, general manager of the Canadian Airlines, gave his listeners the "low down" on the "biggest tip" dealing with the internal structure and workings of the T.C.A. Mr. Westergaard outlined his growth in personnel and equipment and stressed the elaborate precautions and endless routine work carried out continuously in the interest of safety. Present also was Mr. Douglas Ireland, Edmonton's premier local plane builder with a display of model planes, including a newly-completed competition model, gasoline powered, and designed by Mr. Ireland himself.

Special guests, comparative newcomers to the ranks of Edmonton's railwaymen, were C. H. Simpson, chief dispatcher, D. E. McKinnon, general foreman, Calder, and E. H. Jenkins, car foreman. Calder, Clayton Greenlee presided and musical selections were provided by E. Powers. Those present were:

A. N. Westergaard, C. H. Simpson, D. E. McKinnon, C. H. Simpson, C. E. Greenlee, J. Helm, W. H. Colby, R. D. Carr, Douglas Ireland, H. C. Russell, E. Powers, S. S. Dean, T. G. Baker, R. B. Davis, S. M. Barnett, W. C. Grundy, M. Banks, B. A. Laite, G. S. Bagel, C. E. Stewart, John Copping, Jack Rutherford, M. A. Cardell, J. G. Cole, A. B. Knutson, A. Brown, W. O. Giesman, H. Hughes, A. G. Nickel, L. D. Clark, C. Morris, L. J. Clark, W. W. Ireland, R. B. Gower.

On the National System

More than 30 friends and associates of Aylmer Robbins, retiring locomotive engineer of Jasper, gathered in the annex of the Veterans' club to honor him on March 29. He has been in the service of the Canadian National railways ever since 1911 and has an unblemished record behind him. For his services "Aylmer" have been chalked up against his name.

The evening was in charge of A. P. McGuire of the B. of L. E. and among those present were: Locomotive Engineer A. B. Lee, both of the Jasper terminal, T. C. Young, retired locomotive foreman of Jasper, and Dr. T. O'Hagan. Reminiscences of construction days were told and community singing led by W. B. Wilson. Mr. Robbins was presented with a fine Gladstone bag, a pair of pipes and a lighter by his friends and comrades with hearty good wishes for a long life and good health.

About 40 members of the Edmonton Men's Railway club gathered on Thursday night at the Macdonald hotel for the first banquet of the year.

The guest speaker of the evening was A. N. Westergaard, airport manager for Trans-Canada Airlines. He gave an interesting outline on the operations of the T.C.A. Following his speech he answered questions asked by members. Another highlight of the evening was the introduction of three recently appointed officials: Mr. D. E. McKinnon, general foreman at Calder; C. H. Simpson, chief dispatcher at Edmonton; and E. H. Jenkins, car foreman at Calder. For a grand finale, W. Ireland, carman, N.Y., gave a short talk on model airplane clubs and also displayed some of his own "Douglas" model airplanes.

A large crowd gathered last Friday at the Macdonald hotel to celebrate the final dance of the current season, held by the Canadian 30.

C.P.R. Briefs
To the accompaniment of cameras clicking and the well wishes of many friends and railway associates, Engineer Walter Edwards left Edmonton Thursday on train 38 from the Canadian Pacific station on his last trip, marking the conclusion of 40 years of railroading. J. I. Mackay, C.P.R. divisional superintendent, Edmonton, accompanied by other division officers, were among the many present at the station to congratulate him as he took his engine out for the last time.

Mr. Brunner was assigned to the "Monsieur" run during the summer months, and as a result was widely known among the company's patrons. Possessed of an engaging, friendly personality, Mr. Brunner's, thus, of Wetaskiwin, is moving his residence to Macleod, Alberta, in the near future, and the good wishes of his many friends and former railway associates is extended to him for the future in his new home.

Penitential C.P.R. Carman J. A. W. Reid, inspector for the board of transport commissioners, Calgary, was a visitor in Edmonton recently on board business.

Hugh A. McDonald, C.P.R. carman, South Edmonton, is at present on three months leave of absence.

C. P. Klein, C.P.R. fireman, has returned to Calgary for work out of that point, after being stationed at Edmonton recently.

P. A. Durne, superintendent of the Canadian Pacific Express Co., Vancouver, was a business visitor in the city during the past week.

JACK BARTLEY BACK
J. B. Bartley will resume duty in the superintendent's office, C.P.R. Edmonton, after two months leave of absence, on April 1, and Douglas Fowler, who has been relieving Jack Clark in that office during his absence, will return to work for the communications department, South Edmonton.

News of the recent death of Adolph Brunner, C.P.R. steward operating on the buffet car between Edmonton and Calgary, came as a distinct shock to his many friends in Edmonton. Known as one of the most capable and courteous stewards in the service of the company,

Spring is the time for BUILDING and REMODELING

Springtime Is Paint-up Time

It has sure been a tough winter so far as the weather is concerned, but now that April is here we can all look forward to better, and let us hope, balmy days.

Yes, we suppose the good lady will soon be looking critically at the draperies and the woodwork and saying "My goodness, Joe, how dirty everything has got during the winter." Yes, what with the furnace inside and the weather outside, the old housewife will need a bit of brightening up this spring, and there is nothing like a couple of coats of good paint to do the trick.

We don't suppose Edmonton houses and business premises are any different from those in other towns and cities across Canada, and from what we see in our daily rounds of this city, at least 90 per cent of the houses and buildings stand in great need of a spot of exterior decorating. After all it said and done, good paint is unquestionably the best surface protection against the weather and its ravages of time, and it is not only economically sound policy to delay repainting too long, premises so neglected also become an eyesore to inhabitants and neighbors alike.

The standard brands of Canadian made paints are the best that can be obtained anywhere at the price for which they are sold, and even our salesmen tell this paint will do wonders in improving the appearance of the average home, because when a good reliable brand is used it will go twice as far as cheaper grades of unknown quality. Apart from the added protection to property, and the improved appearance of any premises after a good paint job, there is another good reason why property owners should seriously consider getting a good paint job done this spring.

THERE is a way for every family to enjoy to its fullest the Canadian standard of living. It is a standard which recognizes the value of a modern home; its importance in the upbringing of a family; its symbolic significance for that family.

To benefit the members of your own family, make the most of your home this Spring — by making your plans for repair, modernization, and decoration now.

There is a business organization or personal service obtainable in this community for every type of home improvement. This page is your index of who to call for what you want done to make your house a better home in which everyone can live happily, healthily, securely and comfortably.

Everyone knows that all mechanics in the building trades have had a hard time during the past few years, and this applies particularly to the painters and decorators, and we venture to say that in every village, town or city in Canada, there will be found skilled painters who would be more than glad to do a real job at a very fair price, so why not loosen up this spring and yourself and show a good turn?

There is a special reason this year why property owners in many cities and towns should brighten up the neighborhood by giving at least the exterior of their premises a coat or two of paint, and this special reason is that Their Majesties King George VI and his gracious Queen Elizabeth, will be touring Canada this summer. To obtain this is nothing quite so depressing as a neglected and run-down piece of property, whether that property be a home, a store, a factory or even a church, and goodness knows there will be many on the route Their Majesties will take through this city unless the owners get busy and put a painter or two on the job. As we understand it the various towns and cities and the citizens generally will spend thousands of dollars for temporary decorations along the line of route, but if property owners neglect the more permanent effect created by the use of good paint, the whole decorative scheme will lose much of its color and gaiety.

All in all then it seems to be a good time to pick up and paint up, so let all of us be good citizens and get on with the job.

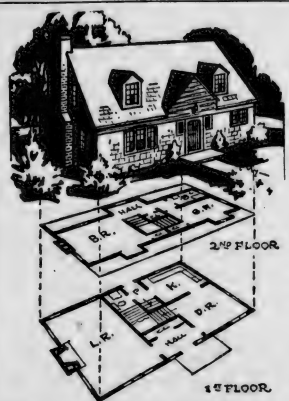

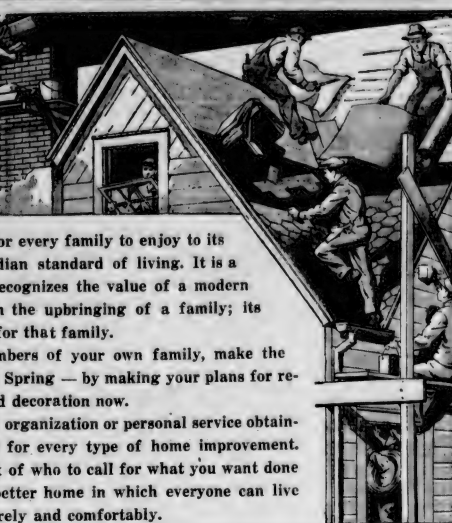

It is world famous, yet few people know the exact area of boundaries of New York's Lower East Side.

Ken Magazine Is Banned Here

OTTAWA, April 1.—National Revenue Department officials said here last night orders will be issued today banning the United States magazine, Ken, permanently from Canada.

Immediate cause of the ruling is a cartoon of King George VI in the current issue which department officials consider undignified. The magazine has run into difficulty with the department before. Several months ago one particular issue was banned because of an autobiographical article by a prostitute.

'Frisco Fair Is For Ice Refrigeration

Air-conditioned ice refrigeration seemed but at the Golden Gate fair in conjunction with other refrigeration methods. The California State Floricultural Commission was the first organization to install ice refrigeration, followed by the Agricultural Commission and the state building authorities.

Altogether a total of 236 pieces of ice-making refrigeration are being used including water coolers, refrigerated counters, soft drink chests, domestic refrigerators and commercial equipment.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

MAJOR HOOPLE

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

RAINBOWS

ARE PRODUCED BY REFRACTION AND REFLECTION OF LIGHT RAYS BY DROPS OF RAIN / THE DROPS OF WATER ACT AS A PRISM AND SPLIT THE LIGHT INTO ITS PRIMARY COLORS.

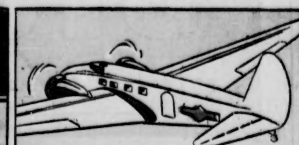

THE BOW CONTAINS ALL THE COLORS OF THE SPECTRUM, WITH VIOLET INSIDE AND RED OUTSIDE.

RAINBOWS SOMETIMES OCCUR AT NIGHT, WHEN THE LIGHT OF THE MOON IS REFLECTED BY MOISTURE.

NO ONE EVER CAN DISPROVE THE LEGEND THAT A POT OF GOLD IS TO BE FOUND AT THE FOOT OF THE RAINBOW, FOR THE END MOVES OFF FARTHER AND FARTHER AS THE OBSERVER TRAVELS TOWARDS IT.

A RAINBOW REALLY IS A COMPLETE CIRCLE, AND AVIATORS FLYING AT HIGH ALTITUDES CAN SEE IT AS SUCH.

TWO PERSONS STANDING SIDE BY SIDE DO NOT SEE THE SAME RAINBOW, FOR EACH FOCUSES A DIFFERENT SERIES OF REFLECTIONS.

HEAVY, HEAVY HANGS OVER THY HEAD...WHAT SHALL THE OWNER DO TO REDEEM IT?

FINE OR SUPER FINE?

FINE! HAVE HIM HOLD HANDS WITH JUNE WAYMAN, AND WALK HER AROUND THE BLOCK AND COUNT THE STARS!

IT'S LARD SMITH'S WATCH!

COME ON, JUNE... PUT ON YOUR COAT! WE'LL BE GONE A LONG TIME!

OF ALL THE SAPS, FRECK... YOU'RE IT! WHY SEND ANOTHER GUY OUT WITH YOUR GIRL?

WELL, I DID IT FOR THREE REASONS! IN THE FIRST PLACE, I THOUGHT COUNTING THE STARS WAS A CUTE ASSIGNMENT!

SECONDLY, I'M SUPPOSED TO SIT HERE AND BE AN IMPARTIAL JUDGE...

...AND I FIGURED IF I SENT SOMEONE ELSE OUT WITH MY GIRL IT WOULD PROVE I WAS!

AND IN THE THIRD PLACE, I THOUGHT IT WAS MY WATCH!!
